

Selecting Form Elements

	Click an element in the editor to select it.
	The selected element is marked by a blue frame.

Related Pages:

- Working with the BPMN Editor
- Adding Form Elements
- Reusing Form Elements

The screenshot shows a web browser window with a tab titled 'Form_Example'. The form itself is divided into several sections. At the top, there's a 'Title' text input field and a 'Date' field showing '15.03.2022 16:52:48'. Below the title field is a 'Description' text area. To the right of the description, there's a 'Colors' section with three radio button options: 'Blue', 'Green', and 'Black'. The form is styled with a light blue border and a clean, modern look. A vertical toolbar on the right side of the form contains various icons for editing and navigation.

If you want to select several elements at once, hold down the Ctrl key and click the respective elements with the mouse.

- To add more elements to an existing selection, hold the Ctrl key and click on the elements you want to add.
- To remove an element from an existing selection, hold the Ctrl key and click on the element you want to deselect.

You can select all the elements in the editor by using the context menu.

 to select all elements in the form.

See page Working with the Form Editor for a list of all available shortcuts and mouse actions in the Form Editor.